

Shortly after arriving in Napa Valley in 1994, Annie and Andy met and immediately connected thorough a shared passion for where they lived, what they did, and what they could do. Growing grapes and making wine has become the center of their daily work lives, bringing them to many incredible places and helping them forge meaningful friendships.

PEOPLE

Annie Favia – Owner, Viticulturalist

Keen on all things green, viticulturalist Annie Favia is down to earth in a literal sense. Embracing nature and advocating on its behalf, Annie truly believes all plants, vines at the forefront, are speaking to us and it's our responsibility to listen. Ardent about leaving her surrounds in a better state than they were found, Annie cares for plants and brings them to an ever-expanding table, where the fruits of the garden and the cellar can be enjoyed with lively, introspective conversation to boot!

Andy Erickson – Owner, Winemaker

Experiences gained from a summer in France during university, and many subsequent trips to winegrowing regions in Europe, fueled Andy's enthusiasm for the concept of "terroir" as well as for wines made from special places. Andy's goal as a winemaker is to highlight the character of each unique vineyard site he works with – whether at a clients' estate vineyards, or the vineyards that produce the Favia wines. Feeling incredibly lucky to call Napa Valley his home, Andy constantly marvels at the diversity of soils and microclimates in this small yet diverse valley.

Jessica Tarpy Shaheen – Winemaker

Jessica is a true renaissance woman. From her childhood growing up in Louisiana to college years spent in Italy before landing in California, she is by all accounts interested and interesting. As Favia's Winemaker, she orchestrates the marriage of disciplines – biology, chemistry, botany, geology, geography – seamlessly into their poetic and inexhaustible union of wine. An honest and reliable sounding board, Jessica's palate is tuned into the subtle balance we try to illuminate in our wines.

PRESS

March 2022
WINE SPECTATOR
Napa's Dynamic Duo

August 2021
FORBES
Forbes: Wines of the Week

August 2021
DECANTER
Favia: Producer Profile and Fine Wines Tasted

February 2021
JEBB DUNNUCK
Top Napa Cabernet Sauvignon Under \$100

November 2020
WINE SPECTATOR
Out of the Frying Pan...

October 2020
WINE SPECTATOR
Finding a Silver Lining in Napa: A Live Chat with Andy Erickson

May 2020
WINE SPECTATOR
50 Top Napa Producers

May 2020
WINE SPECTATOR
Napa: Where to Taste

April 2020
DEPARTURES
These are the Best Wines to Be Drinking Now—Broken Down by Varietal

November 2019
WINE SPECTATOR
Wine Spectator Top 100

FAVIA IS THE EVER-RESONANT TELLING OF A STORY STILL BEING WRITTEN.

CERRO SUR NAPA VALLEY RED WINE

The wine most reflective of our sense of place, from one of the most majestic sites to grow Cabernet Franc, our favorite variety. Planted nearly 40 years ago high in the eastern Vaca Mountains; this wine more than any other reminds us of home.

LA MAGDALENA NAPA VALLEY RED WINE

A statuesque blend of Cabernet Franc and Cabernet Sauvignon, this wine is as rich and complex as the soils from which it grows. Hailing from high on the plateau that is Oakville Ranch, it is deep, layered, and eminently ageable.

COOMBSVILLE CABERNET SAUVIGNON NAPA VALLEY

A regal expression of Cabernet Sauvignon from this very special appellation. Volcanic soils, cooler temperatures, and thoughtful viticulture result in precise textural and aromatic intensity. A true archetype of Coombsville.

OAKVILLE CABERNET SAUVIGNON NAPA VALLEY

Our interpretation of Napa Valley power—profound, dense and aromatic, but always in balance. A wine that promises to be long-lived and reflective of all that makes Napa iconic.

faviawine.com

@faviawines info@faviawines.com

(707) 256-0875 P. O. Box 6978, Napa, CA 94581

favia