LEVIATHAN

“It leaps from the glass with exuberant black cherries, black raspberries and blackcurrants ... Approachable now yet structured to cellar, this seriously affordable, serious California blend should age 15-20 years or more.”

- Robert Parker's Wine Advocate, December 2018

“Soft and juicy red with blackberries, dried fruit and hints of spices. Full and layered with very pretty flavors. Hints of walnuts and tobacco at the finish. Some firmness and tension gives this interest.”

ANDY ERICKSON: A winemaking legend, committed to one red blend.

Leviathan is a red blend from Andy Erickson, the former winemaker for Screaming Eagle. With two 100pt wines and numerous additional accolades under his belt, Andy is recognized as one of Napa's premier winemakers. Leviathan began in 2004 as a passion project. Andy wanted to take all of his winemaking experience and vineyard knowledge from around California and create a single red wine that was free from the restraints of appellations and varietals. This is winemaking without restriction.
